In recent years, the company has tightly relied on the market as a guide, continuously deepening internal reforms within the enterprise and increasing the intensity of technological development. We have vigorously adjusted and improved the product structure of the company. Not only have we formed a strong leadership collective and established a high - quality workforce, but we have also, through continuous technological transformation, expanded the production scale, improved product quality, and increased market share, thus taking enterprise management to a new level.

A favorable market environment represents both a historical opportunity and a severe challenge for us. Exploration and pursuit, as well as hard work and dedication, are the common responsibilities bestowed upon us by the times. May we join hands and create a better future together.
